

We tend to think of consecration only as yielding up, when divinely directed, our material possessions. But ultimate consecration is the yielding up of oneself to God (heart, soul and mind). Our performances will, in turn, be fully consecrated for the lasting welfare of our souls (see 2 Ne. 32:9). -Elder Maxwell

Five elements of a consecrated life

- purity (repentance)
- work
- respect for one's physical body
- service
- integrity

The Law of Consecration

We consecrate our time, our talents, and our money and property to the cause of the Church; such are to be available to the extent they are needed to further the Lord's interests on earth.

What can I consecrate?

Definition

Consecration

Definition

Sacrifice

What am I willing to sacrifice?

The Law of Sacrifice

We are willing to sacrifice all that we have for the truth's sake—our character and reputation; our honor and applause; our good name among men; our houses, lands, and families: all things, even our very lives if need be

Animal Sacrifices

Modern Sacrifices