

I pray that we will not wait until we are ready to die before we truly learn to live.

we cannot take for granted one single day.

today;
to walk that eternal path

We must begin is an eternal one. ...

as sons and daughters of God

our divine destiny

toward fulfilling

The path

1. Resolve to spend more time with those we love.

When Jesus Christ interacted with those around Him, they felt important and loved. He knew the infinite value of the people He met. He blessed them, ministered to them. He lifted them up, healed them. He gave them the precious gift of His time.

If we fail to give our best personal self and undivided time to those who are truly important to us, one day we will regret it.

Let us resolve to cherish those we love by spending meaningful time with them, doing things together, and cultivating treasured memories.

How can I encourage quality family time in my home?

Is there a member of my family I would like to develop a deeper relationship with? What are some things I can do to accomplish that?

What can I do to see and acknowledge the good things in my every day life?

Perhaps we should be looking less with our eyes and more with our hearts. I love the quote: "One sees clearly only with the heart. Anything essential is invisible to the eyes."

...No matter our circumstances, no matter our challenges or trials, there is something in each day to embrace and cherish. There is something in each day that can bring gratitude and joy if only we will see and appreciate it.

regardless of our circumstances.
Resolve to find happiness,

2. Resolve to strive more earnestly to become the person God wants us to be.

Discipleship is the pursuit of holiness and happiness. It is the path to our best and happiest self.

Let us resolve to follow the Savior and work with diligence to become the person we were designed to become. Let us listen to and obey the promptings of the Holy Spirit. As we do so, Heavenly Father will reveal to us things we never knew about ourselves. He will illuminate the path ahead and open our eyes to see our unknown and perhaps unimagined talents.

The more we devote ourselves to the pursuit of holiness and happiness, the less likely we will be on a path to regrets. The more we rely on the Savior's grace, the more we will feel that we are on the track our Father in Heaven has intended for us.

How will following the Savior help me to discover the woman God wants me to become?

What can I do to be a better disciple of Christ?